

16. The method of claim 15 wherein the signal paths are adjusted identically on the input and output side of the parasitic element.

5 17. The method of claim 10 wherein the inductance is added by changing the width of the signal transmission line.

18. The method of claim 8 wherein the correction impedance is added by changing the width of the signal transmission line.

20200627
Mikalauskas, F.